2. The salient features of the procedure are as under:—

- (i) The procedure will apply not only to excisable material component parts purchased from the place of manufacture but also in those cases where duty paid material parts are sold by a manufacturer to third party and the latter sells it to the manufacturer of finished excisable goods who applies to avail of the above procedure.

- (xi) No refund of excise duty will be admissible if the materials/parts received are not used for the manufacture of finished excisable goods. Once a credit has been given in the proforma account for the duty paid on the material/parts such material/parts will be deemed to be non-duty paid and if they are cleared from the factory as such on account of any damage or otherwise they will have to pay duty by debit in the proforma account. In case of insufficient balance in the proforma account, cash deposit to replenish the proforma account will have to be made before clearance. Such clearance will be allowed on a written application and a gate pass suitably endorsed.
- (xii) In cases where such materials/parts are sought to be destroyed within the factory due to damage or being found unserviceable, such destruction shall be allowed under excise supervision and no duty shall be charged on the goods so destroyed.
- (xiii) As the above procedure is now applicable in respect of the excisable goods specified in para I above in bond movement wherever sanctioned in respect of these goods for use in the manufacture of other excisable goods shall not be allowed hereafter.

3. For any difficulty where clarification is deemed necessary, in the observance of the above procedure the manufacturers are advised to contact the Assistant Collector, Central Excise, concerned.

K. Nagar, District Burdwan (West Bengal) and their workmen.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, CALCUTTA.

REFERENCE NO. 34 OF 1962

AND

Their workmen.

PRESENT :

APPEARANCES :

On behalf of the Employers—Shri D. C. Deb.

On behalf of Workmen—Shri Kalyan Roy, Vice-President, Colliery Mazdoor Sabha.

STATE : West Bengal.

INDUSTRY : Coal Mines.

AWARD

The Government of India, Ministry of Labour and Employment, by their order No. 2/70/62-LRII, dated 31st July, 1962, have referred the industrial dispute existing between the employers in relation to the New Jemehari Khas Colliery (P.) Limited and their workmen in respect of the question whether the dismissal of a C.P. Miner named Ch. Atwari Chamar by the management was justified and if not, to what relief he was entitled for adjudication to this Tribunal.

2. In response to notices issued by the Tribunal, the workmen represented by the Colliery Mazdoor Sabha filed a written statement contending inter alia that a chargesheet was issued against Atwari Chamar on 23rd April, 1962 to which he replied on 25th April, 1962 denying the charges; that he was also suspended; that pressure was brought on him to put his thumb mark on a blank paper; that he protested against this; that ultimately he was dismissed by a letter dated 29th April, 1962 with a forwarding letter dated 2nd May, 1962 which he received on 12th May 1962; that no enquiry had been held against him and that he had been kept suspended for more than ten days; that his dismissal was mala fide and in violation of principles of natural justice and also of the provisions of the Standing orders. He should therefore be reinstated with back wages.

3. By their written statement, the employers urged that the previous records of the concerned workman were bad; that he had been chargesheeted and punished on a previous occasion also; that the facts leading to his dismissal were that on 20th April, 1962 one Bikayal Chamar complained to the Manager in writing that he had been assaulted by the concerned workman while on duty on 19th April, 1962; that a preliminary enquiry was held by the Manager on 21st April, 1962 and as it appeared that there was a prima facie case against him, a chargesheet was issued on 23rd April, 1962; that a reply was received on 25th April, 1962; that an enquiry was held on 28th April, 1962; that in the course of the enquiry he admitted the charge against him and put his thumb impression on it; that the misconduct was held proved and he was thereupon dismissed with the approval of the owner of the colliery; that the other allegations made by the Union are not correct; that the workman concerned is not therefore entitled to any relief.

4. It is an admitted fact that Atwari Chamar was served with a chargesheet on 23rd April, 1962 to the effect that he had assaulted one Bikayal Chamar, a loader, on 19th April, 1962 while on duty. He replied to this chargesheet on 25th April, 1962 denying the allegations made therein. In the written statement, it has been alleged that an enquiry was held in the matter and that the above workman participated in the enquiry and further that as a result of the enquiry the charge against him was held proved. The workman has denied all these allegations. From the evidence recorded before me, I am satisfied that no enquiry worth the name was held by the Manager. The evidence of the Manager himself is sufficient to show this.

5. In his evidence, the manager has firstly said that he received a written complaint from one Bikayal Chamar on 20th April, 1962 against Atwari Chamar. It appears that the manager did not take a serious view of this complaint because he says that he asked Bikayal to settle the matter privately with Atwari. The manager then says that Bikayal was keen on his complaint and thereupon the manager held a preliminary enquiry on the next day i.e. 21st April, 1962; and recorded statements of Bikayal and witnesses produced by him. It has been said by the Manager that at the time of the preliminary enquiry Atwari was present. There is however nothing to support this allegation. In any case, even if Atwari was present, admittedly he took no part in the enquiry. The manager has also admitted that he did not ask Atwari whether he wanted to cross examine either Bikayal or any of his witnesses. It was after all a preliminary enquiry and he may not have thought it necessary to give an opportunity to Atwari to cross examine the witnesses. Actually, he says that he did not know that Atwari had a right to cross examine them. Be that as it may, there is no doubt that the statements recorded on the 21st were statements made at a preliminary enquiry, when the person against whom the enquiry was to be held was not present, or at least, had no opportunity to cross examine the witnesses.

6. It was after this preliminary enquiry that a chargesheet was served on Atwari and he replied to it denying the allegations made against him. It is then said by the Manager that he held further enquiry on the 28th; that he first recorded the statements of Bikayal and his witnesses and then he recorded the statements of Atwari and his witnesses. Now, so far as the recording of the statements of Bikayal and his witnesses is concerned, the manager had to admit later on that he did not record the statements of any of these persons on 21st. In other words, there was no evidence recorded at the time of the enquiry from which the Manager could hold Atwari guilty. The statements recorded at the preliminary enquiry were no evidence against Atwari because he had no opportunity to cross examine those witnesses. Actually I am not even satisfied that those statements were recorded in Atwari's presence. In any case, as Atwari had no opportunity to cross examine the witnesses, the statements of these witnesses could not be used to hold Atwari guilty.

7. The manager then says that he recorded the statements of Atwari's witnesses on 28th. It does appear that the manager has recorded some statements on the 28th; but there is nothing to show that these persons were witnesses on behalf of Atwari. Apart from this, the manager admits that he recorded the statements of these witnesses in the absence of Atwari. He has said that before starting recording these statements, he asked Atwari to leave his room and after Atwari had left, he recorded the statements. In other words, statements were recorded in the absence of Atwari and would have no value. They could not therefore be taken into account for holding Atwari guilty. The manager has ultimately admitted that he had not asked anyone to cross examine any witnesses and this is because he did not know that Atwari had a right to cross examine Bikayal and Bikayal's witnesses and that is why he did not ask Atwari to cross examine either Bikayal or any of his witnesses. In other words, the statements recorded by the manager has absolutely no value and could not therefore be used to hold Atwari guilty.

8. A statement has been produced which purports to be a statement of Atwari recorded on 28th in which he is alleged to have said that there was an exchange of words between him and Bikayal and that he beat Bikayal with his torch and that he should be excused for his fault. Atwari has said that his thumb mark was taken on some statement without reading it over to him. In his deposition, the manager says that he recorded Atwari's statement on 21st in which Atwari denied the allegations against him and that he did not record any statement of Atwari on 28th. This would mean that there is some force in the allegation of the workman that his thumb mark was taken on some statement without its being read over to him. In any case, there is no evidence to prove the alleged admission of Atwari.

9. The manager said at first that he wrote out a report holding Atwari guilty; but later on he said that he did not write out any report but merely communicated his findings orally to his Superior Officers. If there had been a written report, it would have shown whether Atwari had made a statement admitting his guilt. Actually, if there was a statement made by Atwari admitting the guilt, there would have been no necessity for the Manager to examine any witnesses. I am therefore not satisfied that Atwari made a statement admitting his guilty.

10. The Union has also alleged that the order of dismissal was bad because it was passed by the Manager without obtaining the previous approval of a higher officer as required by the standing orders. In this connection, the Manager has relied on the office copy of the letter of dismissal, which according to him bears the Managing Director's approval. The Managing Director has not been examined as a witness. It is difficult to believe that the Managing Director's approval was obtained on the office copy of the dismissal order. It should have been obtained before the order of dismissal was passed. In this connection, it is important to note that when conciliation proceedings were held, the Union had alleged that no previous sanction of the Managing Director had been obtained. At that time, the representative of the management informed the Conciliation Officer that before dismissing Atwari they had taken the approval of the Managing Director but the same could not be produced as it was with the Managing Director, who was then out of Headquarters. In this evidence before the Tribunal, the manager has said that the office copy of the dismissal order (which contains the approval of the Managing Director) was all along in the file. This would mean that the endorsement of the Managing Director on the office copy must have been obtained after the conciliation proceedings were held when it was found that the dismissal order was illegal without the previous sanction of the Managing Director.

11. On the whole, I am satisfied that no enquiry was held in the matter; that some statements were recorded in the absence of Atwari; that Atwari was not given any opportunity to cross examine any witness or to examine any witness on his behalf and thus his dismissal was in violation of the principles of natural justice, in that it was passed without a proper enquiry. No evidence has been produced before the Tribunal also to support a finding that Atwari had assaulted Bikayal as alleged. There can thus be no doubt that the dismissal of Atwari is unjustified.

12. In the result, Atwari should be reinstated in service forthwith. He should be paid full wages from the date of his suspension till the date of his reinstatement and all this period should be treated as if he has been on duty all along. The Management should also pay Rs. 100 as costs of the Union.

I pass my award accordingly.

APPEARANCES:

INDUSTRY : Coal Mines.

AWARD

The Government of India, Ministry of Labour and Employment, by their order No. 6/17/62-LRII dated 14th December, 1962, have referred the industrial dispute existing between the employers in relation to the Kendra Colliery and their workmen in respect of the question whether the management was justified in terminating the services of Sarvashri Mohini Mohan Das and Mahabir Prasad Banswal before the expiry of the notice period and if not, to what relief these two workmen were entitled, for adjudication to this Tribunal.

2. In response to the notices issued by the Tribunal, the workmen represented by the Colliery Mazdoor Union filed their written statement, stating that Shri Mohini Mohan Das had been employed as a General Assistant from 18th December 1961 and Shri Mahabir Prasad Banswal as a Magazine clerk from 17th October, 1961; that both were active members of the Union; that the Company by a letter dated 4th August, 1962 asked Mahabir Prasad Banswal to do night shift duty and the said workman started working in night shift from 16th August, 1962 and worked there for about a fortnight; that the Union contends that to work continuously in the night shift was strenuous and inconvenient; that the said workman by his letter dated 1st September, 1962 requested the management to provide him with some other job and also requested that if it was not possible to do so, then his resignation may be accepted with one month's notice from that date; that the Union contends that this letter was not a resignation letter as it was qualified with a request that he should be provided with some other job; that by the terms and condition of service he was required to give one month's notice whenever he wanted to submit his resignation; that still the management treated the aforesaid letter as a letter of resignation and accepted it even before the expiry of one month from the date of the said letter; that the management were actuated by ulterior motives; that by doing so, they deprive the workman of his wages for the whole month and also of his quarterly bonus; that the other workman Mohini Mohan Das submitted his resignation giving one month's notice from 1st September, 1962 as under his condition of service he was required to give such a notice when he wanted to submit resignation; that it is the inherent right of every workman to withdraw his resignation within the notice period and the management deprived this workman of his right to exercise this inherent right and accepted his resignation on 4th September, 1962 with the object of depriving him of his wages for the unexpired period of notice and also bonus. The Union therefore contended that the Tribunal should pass an award declaring that the Management were not justified in terminating the services of the above two workmen and asking them to pay to these workmen their wages for the whole month of September and also directing them to pay bonus for the quarter ending September and lastly to pay compensation for wrongful termination of their services.

3. The employers filed their written statement contending inter alia that they were not aware whether the two concerned workmen were members of the Union; that the different allegations made by the Union were not correct; that it was within the right of the management to accept the resignation at any time by waiving the period of notice; that the acceptance of the resignation by the employer dissolved the relationship between the workers and the employer with effect from the date on which the resignation was accepted; that they acted legally in doing so; that the concerned workmen could claim their wages upto the dates on which the resignations were accepted; that the workmen were therefore not entitled to any relief.

4. The facts of the present case are few and simple. Mahabir Prasad Banswal joined the Kendra Colliery as a Magazine clerk from 7th October, 1961. Mohini Mohan Das joined the said colliery as General Assistant from 18th December, 1961. The appointment letters in case of both have been produced and the terms and conditions of both are identical. Clause 4 thereof provided that the workman's services could be terminated at any time without any notice during the probationary period but after confirmation of service the workman would be entitled to one month's notice or one month's salary in lieu thereof whenever his services were to be terminated. Clause 5 provided that the workman would have to give one month's notice whenever he wanted to submit his resignation.

5. So far as Mahabir Prasad Banswal is concerned, he was transferred to the night shift from 16th August, 1962. It appears from his deposition that formerly the mine was working only one shift but it started a night shift from about the middle of July. At that time, one Chatterjee was asked to work in the night shift. The management mutually transferred Mahabir Prasad Banswal and Chatterjee from 16th August, 1962; that is, from that date Mahabir Prasad was asked to work in the night shift and Chatterjee in the day shift. Accordingly Mahabir Prasad started working in the night shift. On 1st September, 1962 he wrote a letter to the management stating that due to some domestic affairs it was not possible for him to do night shift duty and requested them to provide him with some other job in the office but if this was not possible then kindly to accept his resignation with one month's notice from that date. On 3rd September, 1962 the management wrote to him that his resignation was accepted with immediate effect and he was thereupon relieved from his duties.

6. So far as Mohini Mohan Das is concerned, he was appointed as General Assistant in December 1961 and worked as such. On 28th August 1962 he wrote a letter to the management stating that due to some unavoidable circumstances he was tendering his resignation with one month's notice from 1st September 1962. This resignation was accepted on 10th September 1962 and he was relieved of his duties forthwith.

7. The Union's contention is that the management had no right to relieve the workmen before the period of notice was over; that each of the concerned workmen had given notice of one month and hence they could not be relieved till the period of notice expired and the management was not justified in accepting their resignations earlier and in relieving them earlier. On the other hand, the employers' contention is that they had every right to accept the resignations at any time; that the clause regarding notice was for their benefit and they could therefore waive it at any time they liked. In my opinion, the management's contention must be accepted.

8. As I mentioned above, there are two clauses in the letters of appointment one of which is regarding the termination of service at the instance of the employer and the other is regarding termination of service as a result of resignation of the workman concerned. Under the first clause, it was provided that after confirmation a workman would be entitled to one month's notice or one month's salary in lieu of notice whenever his services were to be terminated. This clause obviously is for the purpose of giving the workman sufficient time to find out another job. He is given a notice that his services would be terminated after one month and during this one month he could be on the lookout for a job. The management could instead of giving him notice give him one month's salary; that would mean that during that one month the workman would be getting his salary and during that period he could find out some other job. The next clause is regarding resignation by the workman and that clause provides that the workman would have to give one month's notice whenever he wanted to submit his resignation. This clause is a counter part of the earlier clause and it must be to give the employer sufficient time to find out another workman in place of the workman who was resigning. The giving of notice is thus a right meant for the protection of the opposite party. In the case where the employer was giving notice, the clause would protect the workman and in the case where the workman was giving a notice it would protect the employer. This giving of notice is a right meant not for the person giving the notice but for the opposite party and that opposite party could therefore waive that right and could waive the notice. In other words, when a workman tendered his resignation by giving one month's notice, it would be open to the employers to waive it and to accept the resignation at any time and if they did so, it could not be said that they had done something which was illegal. In this connection, I may refer to the case between Snow White Food Products Ltd. and Nagaswami, 1952 II L.L.J. 326, which was a case similar to the present case. The Labour Appellate Tribunal held in that case that the law required notice on either side for the termination of service. When the employer wishes to terminate the services of an employee, the purpose of notice is to give him time and opportunity to find other employment, without depriving him of his earning during the time; Similarly, when employee wishes to give a notice the purpose was to give the employer time and opportunity to find a substitute. The Labour Appellate Tribunal further held that the employee in the one case and the employer in the other had the right to have notice and as that right was for his benefit, he could waive it.

9. It is true that this may sometimes result in some hardship. For instance a workman may have another job; but knowing that he had to give one month's notice, may have arranged to join it after the period of notice was over. If in the meanwhile, the employer waived the notice, and relieved him immediately, he would be without any earning between the date of relief and the day of the end of notice. This may be so, but it cannot be helped. A party who has the right to have a notice, has a right to waive it.

10. A person who gave resignation could withdraw it before it was accepted, as till then the relationship of employer and employee continued. This might put the employer in a very wrong box because he might employ someone else on the basis of resignation and if the resignation could be withdrawn because of non-acceptance of the resignation earlier, the employer may be in a wrong box. In any case, the position in law would be that the giving of notice was meant for the benefit of the person who was to be given the notice and that person would therefore have the right to waive it and that is what the management have done in the present case.

11. So far as Mahabir Prasad Banswal is concerned, it was contended that he was wrongfully transferred and that he was forced to resign because of the fact that there were not sufficient facilities for work at night. The Tribunal has to accept the reference as made and cannot go behind it. The question referred to for adjudication is whether the management was justified in terminating the services of the workmen before the expiry of the notice period. The order of reference does not mention anything about the merits of the resignation or about the circumstances in which the services were terminated. The Tribunal therefore cannot go into the question whether the resignation was given freely or whether it was given under coercion nor can it go into the question whether the workman was forced to give the resignation because of certain difficulties.

12. Apart from this, I think that there is no force in the contention of Mahabir Prasad Banswal. The other clerk S. K. Chatterjee was admittedly senior to him and that clerk had worked in the night shift for at least a month and if at the end of the month the management mutually transferred the two clerks, it could not be said that the management had no right to do so. Mahabir Prasad Banswal has then said that he had to work in the jungle and there was no arrangement for lighting there and that is why he resigned. He has not alleged these facts in the letter of his resignation. In that letter he has only said that due to some domestic affairs it was not possible for him to do night shift duty. His present allegation cannot therefore be believed.

13. On the whole, I hold that the management had a right to waive notice and were therefore entitled to accept resignation at any time during the period of notice and the termination of service of the workmen during that period was therefore proper. The workmen would be entitled to their wages up to the period that they have worked and not beyond. If they have not been paid their wages up to that date, they should be paid the wages but they are not entitled to any relief for any period beyond the date on which their services were actually dispensed with. I further direct that parties will bear their own costs.

I pass my award accordingly.

Dated the 25th April, 1963.
